NAM TAI ELECTRONICS, INC.
Dividend Policy

VANCOUVER, CANADA -- February 22, 2005 -- Nam Tai Electronics, Inc. ("Nam Tai" or the "Company") (NYSE Symbol: NTE) in response to inquiries from shareholders provided further information regarding the Company's dividend policy that was recently changed by the Company's board of directors in order to maintain a strong financial position, and to support and back up the future growth of the Company. The Board of Directors reserves the right to adjust the dividend policy if the overall situation changes significantly. Under the new dividend policy, the annual dividend will be determined by considering combined operating income and other income in cash, if any, based on the following formula:

- i) $\frac{2}{3}$ Operating earnings (OE): The Company will pay approximately $\frac{2}{3}$ of its operating income from the prior year as dividends. The remaining balance of income from operations will be used to increase working capital;
- plus,
- ii) $\frac{1}{3}$ Other income in cash, if any (OI): One-time cash based realized gains on other income, less tax expenses, minority interest and any other item below the operating income line, will be fully paid out as dividends in equal $\frac{1}{3}$ amounts over the coming three years. Non-cash other income will not be considered for payment of the dividend.

The annual dividend amount will be announced following the announcement of the year end results. The dividend will be paid in equal amounts each quarter in the coming year. Based on the above formula, on February 7, 2005 the Company announced a 175% increase in its dividend for 2005 from $0.48 per share to $1.32 per share payable as follows:

Notes:

- (A) (1) Reason for the new dividend policy – to increase working capital.
(2) Effective Date- This computation method becomes effective for dividends declared for 2005.
(3) The Board reserves the right to review and revise the dividend policy, if necessary.

(B) Under the new policy, source of dividends composed of 2 categories of income:

- (1) Operating earnings (OE) – Approximately 2/3 will be used for distribution in the following year and the remaining 1/3 balance will be used to increase working capital and strengthen the Company in the coming year.
- (2) Other income in cash, if any (OI) – Equal 1/3 amounts will be issued as dividends in the following 3 years. Delaying the issuance over three years also strengthens the cash position. Non-cash other income will not be paid out as dividend. Dividends based on other income will be determined every year and only other income in cash would be considered for distribution. This part of dividend will not continue if there is no other income in cash for a particular year.

(C) The total dividend listed is for reference only. The above example illustrates that if there is other income from 2005 and 2006, then in 2007, dividend paid will compose of one year operating earnings (from 2006) and three years' other income (from 2004, 2005 and 2006).
